

Lucy Pinkston and the Blue Ribbon Panel (Lucy Pinkston Mysteries Book 4)

Gilded-age lady detective, Lucy Pinkston, is back again! While her trusted advisor, Mr. Farouk, is off visiting family in India, Lucy is content to work her cases. However, her overbearing mother has other plans. She installs Edna Pettigrew in the Pinkston Detective Agency with strict guidelines to watch over Lucy. To add to this affront, Lucys brother, Jack, has been elected to the prestigious Blue Ribbon Panel. Set up by the New York Police Commissioner, Jack is charged with rooting out corruption in the police force. Lucy cant remain on the sidelines for long, and soon the entire Pinkston clan is headed to the big city. Lucy suspects Jack is undercover, but can hardly go searching for him with Ms. Pettigrew in tow. Making matters worse, her mother has set her up with a widower Mr. Fredrick Wollstonecraft. Lucy is under intense pressure to marry, and the Woman isnt easily denied. Lucy is at a crossroads when she is led to the notorious Five Points quickly finding evidence of her old nemesis, Francis Sharpton. She must make a decision who to trust, and make it fast. Is she up to the challenge? Or is her career as a detective quickly coming to a close?
