Six Erotic Short Stories of Creative Ways to Make Money Mans Man: The head of any corporation should have the very best personal assistant that money can buy, and David is no exception. Davids personal assistant satisfies his every need, and more than a few of his desires. When David returns from one of his many business trips, he brings with him a young European executive who he hopes will join his company. To sweeten the deal, David offers his personal assistant to the young man for the duration of his visit. Mr. Douglas: Everyone wants to work for Mr. Douglas. Not only is he filthy rich, but it is rumored that his entire office is one big playground, one big sexual playground, that is. Today is the day of Chads personal interview with Mr. Douglas, and he chooses his wardrobe very carefully. Pure silk is a known turn-on for Mr. Douglas, so pure silk is what Chad chooses to wear. A limo arrives to bring Chad to Mr. Douglas, and when Chad arrives at the offices of Mr. Douglas, his personal interview is much more than Chad had anticipated, and maybe too much. The Head Hunter: Gustav is flying into the city for the weekend and Wayne has been given the responsibility of showing him a good time. Gustav is a very well respected design engineer with twenty patents already at the ripe old age of twenty-two. Some have compared his great mind to that of Albert Einstein. And whatever Gustav wants, Wayne has been instructed to give him. Duke Mann: Nick will do anything to be invited to one of Jack Sages parties, and Nick will do anything to get ahead in the corporate world. Jack Sage and his son, Dylan, live in a multimillion dollar mansion on a hill overlooking the city. The parties that Dylans father hosts are legendary, with the nations corporate high rollers among his associates, the most important of which is Duke Mann. The up and coming men of the city will do anything to be invited to one of these parties which are, without exception, by invitation only. Those lucky enough to receive an invitation rapidly ascended the corporate ladder of the industry of their choosing. But if the young men want Duke Manns business assistance, they have to play Dukes game, his way. Hard for the Money: Jesse can never get enough sex. His thirst for new and exciting men is never quenched. He never charges for his services, which are expert. He only accepts tips which he considers to be nothing more than gestures of appreciation, and Jesses services are very much appreciated. When Jesse has a brief dry spell, he makes a very bold move that opens the door to an even more lucrative business. The Escort: Andy was excited about his first day as an intern. He had spent this morning doing what he had done every morning for the past two years in preparation for his career. Fitness was extremely important in his chosen field and he worked out religiously. He was meeting his mentor today, Kevin, who was one of the best in the business.
