

Brad Steiger Predicts the Future

According to Brad Steiger, we can predict the future by understanding the cycles of history and the cycles of weather. History really does repeat itself. That is, cycles of time repeat themselves with astonishing accuracy. Find out why business booms, scientific and technical advancements take place in cold periods, or why dictatorships come to power and wars occur during warm periods. The examples are numerous, covering a broad range of social, political and economic issues and events. In addition, Steiger includes exercises in meditation and creative visualization to help you envision your own future. These exercises will allow you to create a positive attitude about tomorrow, help you master your challenges and literally open the doors of the future.
